

GEORGETOWN HEAD IS CONGRATULATED

Commissioner Brownlow Extends District's Felicitations at University Reception.

DISTINGUISHED MEN ATTEND BIG EVENT

Many Alumni Members of the Board of Regents Are Present.

REV. ALPHONSUS J. DONLON, S.J.

Commissioner Louis Brownlow presented the congratulations of the District government to Rev. Alphonsus J. Donlon, S. J., on the latter's reappointment as president of Georgetown University, at the reception held yesterday afternoon in the first library, at the college. The Commissioner also voiced his approval of the plan of Father Donlon of calling into the management of the affairs of the university members of the alumni who have won distinction in professional and business life. The purpose of the reception was to introduce to the faculties of the various branches of the university and to the friends of Georgetown the members of the board of regents.

Representatives of foreign governments, the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States, Chief Justice Shepard and Associate Justices Robb and Van Orsdel of the District Court of Appeals and Chief Justice Covington and several of his associates on the District Supreme Court were among the large number attending the reception and extending congratulations to Father Donlon and wishing the new board of regents success in the new work undertaken by them. The sessions of Congress yesterday prevented the attendance of many of the legislators.

Women in Charge.

The wives of some of the regents and of members of the law and medical faculties of the university presided at the refreshment tables and took charge of the serving of the ices. The women in charge of this part of the reception were Mrs. White, Mrs. Shepard, Mrs. Robb, Mrs. Van Orsdel, Mrs. De Courcy, Mrs. John A. Agar, Mrs. Ernest Laplace, Mrs. Shirley W. Bowles, Miss J. A. Riggs, Mrs. John J. Hamilton, Mrs. Frank Baker and Mrs. Joseph Taber Johnson. Their assistants included Mrs. William C. Gwynn, Mrs. H. B. Learned, Miss Mildred Merrick, Miss Elizabeth Hamilton, Miss Amelia Yerkes, Miss Letta Montgomery, Miss Marie A. Ryan and the graduating class of the Georgetown Visitation Academy, comprising the Misses Helen Chapman, Alice McVay, Carolyn O'Rourke, Rosalind Caldwell, Margaret Gray, Helen Simpson, Kathleen Carroll, Julia Sullivan, Dorothy Cahill and Rosalie Matthews.

Large Crowd Attends.

The large room of the first library was crowded at times during the reception and the overflow was cared for in the adjoining corridor and on the annex to the Riggs library on the floor above. Father Donlon took his place at the head of the receiving line promptly at 4 o'clock and for more than two hours was the recipient of congratulations from the long line of guests. With him in the receiving line were the alumni members of the board of regents, each of whom was presented in turn to the visitors.

Distance from Washington and a business engagement prevented two members of the board of regents from attending the reception. These were J. Neal Power of San Francisco and Charles Louis Palms of Detroit, Mich. The members of the board in the receiving line were John G. Agar of New York city, Shirley W. Bowles of Washington, Charles A. De Courcy of Lawrence, Mass., George E. Hamilton of Washington, Anthony A. Hirst of Philadelphia, George M. Kober of Washington, Ernest Laplace of Philadelphia, John D. McLaughlin of Roxbury, Mass., J. Lynn Pennington of New York city and James F. Tracey of Albany, N. Y.

Ponce de Leon Failed; His Prize Is Found

Ponce de Leon, the daring explorer, searched among the swamps of Florida for the Fountain of Youth, which the Indians said would restore power and make people young. He did not find it. Thousands of chronic intestinal, bowel and stomach sufferers have written to Geo. H. Mayr, 154 Whiting st., Chicago, in quest of health. They have found it. His remedy, composed of healing vegetable oils from France, has indeed given them back the health of youth. Why suffer from indigestion, gases on the stomach, fainting spells, torpid liver, constipation and all the evils of a disordered stomach when there is permanent relief here? Mayr's Wonderful Remedy is sold by leading druggists everywhere with the positive understanding that your money will be refunded without question or quibble if the bottle fails to give you absolute satisfaction.

REPORTER OF SENATE ON JOB 55 YEARS

Edward V. Murphy Celebrates Long Service at the Capitol.

Has Aided in Officially Recording Every Great Debate Since February 13, 1860.

EDWARD V. MURPHY. (Harris & Ewing photo.)

Edward V. Murphy, official reporter of the Senate, yesterday celebrated the completion of fifty-five years of work in that capacity. He began his labors in the Senate February 13, 1860, and since that time he has aided in the official report of every great debate which has taken place in that body.

Mr. Murphy, together with Theodore F. Shuey, has had the contract for furnishing the official reports of the proceedings in the Senate, and they have had this contract since 1896, when Dennis F. Murphy, an older brother of Mr.

Murphy, who had previously had the contract, died.

Started at Seventeen.

Mr. Murphy was seventeen years old and had just completed his course in the Philadelphia high schools when he came to Washington and entered the Senate chamber as one of the reporters. Two of his brothers already were engaged in that work. At that time the official reporting for the Senate and House were contracted for by two Washington newspapers, the Intelligence and the Union. Richard Sutton had the contract for the Intelligence, and Mr. Sutton at one time had been an official reporter for the house of commons in England, when Charles Dickens was serving in a like capacity.

On the day that Mr. Murphy began his work in the Senate chamber, eulogies were pronounced on Senator Broderick of California, who had been killed in a duel by Judge Terry of the same state. After several eulogistic speeches had been made, Senator Lafayette S. Foster of Connecticut entered a protest against the Senate's paying honor to a man who had lost his life as a result of a duel in violation of the laws of his country.

Reported Assassins' Trial.

Since that day Mr. Murphy has aided in reporting all the important proceedings of the Senate. He heard the valuations of the senators from the states which seceded in 1861; he was a reporter during the civil war Congresses; he did a great part of the reporting of the trial of those charged with the assassination of President Lincoln. There were no typewriters in those days, and the court which conducted the trial met from 9 a.m. until 6 p.m. every day, and the reporters had to transcribe their shorthand notes into longhand for the use of the daily newspapers every evening.

Mr. Murphy's acquaintance with men of prominence in the public life of the country has been very wide during the last half century.

In the days when Mr. Murphy first came to Washington the official record of the proceedings of Congress was called the Globe, and it was not until 1873 that Congress took over the matter of publishing its own proceedings as the Congressional Record.

Mr. Murphy was born February 15, 1842, and will celebrate the seventy-second anniversary of his birth tomorrow.

Charles Wickliffe Claggett died at Baltimore Tuesday in his seventy-fourth year, after a few days' illness of pneumonia. He was born in Prince William county, Va., and was for many years a teacher in the Maryland schools.

PROTESTS THE REMOVAL OF PENNSY TRAIN CREWS

President Andrews of Retail Merchants' Association Writes to Railroad's General Manager.

President Andrews of the Retail Merchants' Association has sent a letter to Samuel C. Long, general manager of the Pennsylvania railroad line east of Pittsburgh, protesting against a proposal to move thirteen train crews from Washington to Baltimore. The fact that these train crews now make their homes in Washington adds about $200,000 per annum to the circulation of money in the city, according to Mr. Andrews.

"The Retail Merchants' Association feels that the Pennsylvania railroad is still desirous of Washington business, and that it will not take any action that would rob the city of that to which it is justly entitled," said Mr. Andrews in his letter.

"On the other hand, we feel sure that you will keep in mind the interests of the employees that would be affected by such a change, two thirds of whom have bought and own homes in this city valued at from $4,000 to $7,000, and whose children are being schooled here, and whose family and other ties lie here in Washington. If such a change were made your employees could probably only realize a small proportion of what they have paid for their homes, their children going to school would have to undergo a new curriculum and at the same time Washington would receive a financial set-back such as it could ill afford at the present time."

Mr. Andrews left yesterday for New York city to attend the annual convention of the National Paper Trade Association, which will open tomorrow morning at the Waldorf-Astoria. Mr. Andrews is treasurer of the organization, and is also past president of the paper trade body.

Will Visit Consular Posts.

Repeating a tour of investigation under the same conditions that prevailed last year, Consul General-at-large Eberhardt will board the coast guard cutter Albatross at Santiago de Cuba today and proceed to Turks Island and other outlying consular posts. The Albatross was reported at Guantanamo yesterday by Capt. Jacobs, in command, who expected to reach San Francisco today.

Millions Imported to the United States Millions of Dollars in Duty Each Year Paid on Toilet Articles

Every year this money has been going out of this country, and is now seeking an outlet at home.

The present war has made this possible. Are you alert and ready to grasp this great opportunity?

The whole world is grasping out for "GOODS MADE IN AMERICA."

The Market and Time Is Right Now— The Greatest of All Opportunities

Over One-Fourth of $25,000
Stock Subscribed
$10 Per Share

An opportunity for the small investor to make a gilt-edge investment—in a business when successfully handled will net big returns. The men behind this proposition are well known locally.

The Men in Back of The Granville Mfg. Co.

The men who have already subscribed for the stock of the GRANVILLE MFG. CO. are business and professional men of Washington who are cautious, and who want to be convinced that there is a real basis for the expectation of large returns upon "Goods Made in America."

The officers of the company are men who are thoroughly conversant with investment securities, and men who are devoting their time and energy to the making of the success of the Granville Mfg. Co.

The Officers Are:
Granville C. Bradford, President.
Ernest Hall Coddage, Vice President.
George E. Weigle, Secretary.
Orlando H. Dorsey, Treasurer.

The Granville Mfg. Co., A Corporation

Which proposes to manufacture and market a full line of high-grade toilet preparations. The profits in cosmetics, facial lotions, complexion powders, rouge, talcum powders, hair tonics, cold cream, etc., are enormous. Remember this market is unlimited. The average American woman prides herself in maintaining youth, vigor and beauty, which calls for toilet aids. They spend millions of dollars each year for the various toilet preparations—hence the great possibilities of big money.

What the U. S. Government Says—

In addition to the vast quantities of cosmetics, complexion powders and toilet preparations which are manufactured in the United States, the Department of Commerce, in its booklet, "Trade With the United States and the World," shows where we imported during 1913 from France $1,686,220 worth of toilet preparations. From England during the same year we imported $62,475 worth of these feminine needs.

These are but two of the countries from which we have been importing cosmetics, perfumes, lotions, face creams, etc., but the figures will give you an idea of how big the field is.

Somebody is going to supply these millions of dollars' worth of toilet needs to the American women every year. These people must just as well be the stockholders of the Granville Mfg. Co.

We know the market and we know what the market demands, and we know how to meet that demand.

A Business With Big Profits--Small Expenses

Glance over the many small preparations of toilet articles—WHERE MILLIONS HAVE BEEN MADE—soaps, hair tonic, face powder, toilet water, cold creams, lotions, perfumery, etc. The needs of a woman's every-day life.

REMEMBER THE INCREASING DEMAND FOR GOODS "MADE IN AMERICA"

Information cheerfully given upon request.
